HOUSEHOLD

HINTS

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES.

To Stop Falling Hair and Promote the Growth—Boil a double handful of sage with one teaspoonful of salt and sulphur in one quart of water, (use leaf sage); drain into large bottle. Add as much quinine as you can hold on the end of a knife blade. Add to this mixture five cents' worth of by rum, the same amount of witch hazel. Rub thoroughly into the roots of the hair. If scalp is dry use a little vasoline on the scalp; the liquid will cut the grease. Give hair good brushing when dry.

Boric Acid, one of the simplest disinfectants, is a valuable home remedy. Mixed with vasoline it makes one of the best salves for cuts, burns, insect bites, sunburn, etc. It dusted in sleeves of coats or dresses, it will remove the odor of perspiration. Tired feet feel better after a hot foot bath, then dusted with the powder. Handkerchiefs and linens used by the sick should be steeped in a solution of it before being sent to laundry. A solution of it is fine to bathe the eyes, as it is cooling and removes the fever. It's good for many other things too numerous to mention.

GOOSEBERRY FOOL.

Take two pints of gooseberries and stew them in a little water as possible. You don't want to have a lot of juice or your fool will be sloppy. When they are quite soft, work them through a sieve. Make a thick custard. Let the gooseberries get nearly cold. Then stir the custard thoroughly into them. When the whole thing is perfectly cold serve it in a glass dish or in little custard cups.

Gooseberries which are just "on the turn" are much more acid than those which are quite green. If you get them when they are turning add a great deal of sugar or your fool will not be eatable.

GOOSEBERRY TRIFLE.

Use two pounds of gooseberries and stew them with six ounces of sugar and a very little water till they are tender. Cut three sponge cakes into three or four slices. Arrange them in a glass dish. Pour the hot stewed gooseberries over them. Let the fruit cool down a little, and then cover it with half a pint of thick custard. When the custard is quite cold decorate it with cherries or little bits of angelica. You can make this kind of trifle with almost any fruit. It is very good indeed when done with apples, which have been nicely flavored with lemon rind or cloves.

SUNDAY PUDDING.

You can use almost any fruit for this pudding. Gooseberries are nice by themselves, and are also nice when mixed with a few strawberries later in the year. The ingredients are: Stewed fruit, sugar to taste, custard, thin slices of stale white bread.

Cut the crusts off thin slices of stale white bread and line the inside of a basin. Fit them neatly into one another, so that there are as few gaps as possible between them.

Stew the fruit with plenty of sugar. While it is still quite hot pour it into the basin. Cover the top with another slice of bread. Put a saucer on the top slice, and a weight on the saucer to press down the contents of the basin. Let it stand a whole day. Then turn it out in a glass dish, and cover it with thick custard.

RED GOOSEBERRY MOLD.

This ought always to be made with red or pink fruit, for it looks bad when it is done with green. The ingredients are:

One pound of gooseberries, one pint of water, sugar to taste, four ounces sage.

Soak the sage over night in cold water. Boil the gooseberries in the water with as much sugar as you require to make them nice and sweet. When they are quite soft put them through a sieve. Add them to the drained sage. Stir all together over the fire till the sage is dissolved. Then pour the mixture into a wet mold. Let it stand till it is set. Serve with custard.

If there is no fresh fruit to be had you can make this mold with one pound of gooseberry jam.

She Might Accept.

"I'm going to ask her to be queen of my home," said the enamored youth. "Yes," replied the cynic, "and she'll accept with the idea that the home is to be an absolute monarchy."—Topsie Star.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl only 15 years old and I have a difficult problem which I think I am too young to solve, so I thought I would see if you could help me.

My father is a very hard drinker and every night when he comes home he is drunk and starts fighting with my mother over any little thing. My mother is very frail and weak, and if my father keeps doing this very long I fear she will die. She is very nervous and lately she has become a nervous breakdown. My father strikes her and even puts her out of the house on cold rainy nights when she ought to be in bed. Please tell me something by which I can make my father come to himself again and by which I can make my mother well and happy. Thank you very much.

Get advice from a charitable organization. An indication of this kind will get in personal touch with the family and will suggest things that an outsider cannot.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you please tell me how I can have some friends? I used to have lots of girl friends, but I haven't any now. I have a sister who is very noisy and that is the reason why I haven't any girl friends. Am very homesick, as I have nobody to go with.

I am sure it isn't your sister's fault that you have no friends. Try to adapt yourself to the ways of others, and learn to forget yourself. If you are genial and true you will attract friends. A change of environment would perhaps be necessary to gain new friends. If possible, join some girls' club.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Can you tell me what will take paint out of a white dress? I tried gasoline, but it did not do any good.

your druggist to recommend one.
(7) Once a month.
(8) Scatter powdered borax along the edges of your cupboards or wherever the ants are.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a girl friend who is sick and at a hospital and I would like to take her some flowers. I cannot afford to buy any. Would it be all right to take some sweet peas or nasturtiums from our garden?
BLUE EYES.

Certainly.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.
